

Rice Electronics provides Motorola communications equipment sales, rental and technical support services to all industries requiring land & mobile communications. Our ISO 9001:2008 Certification certifies us to sell, install, repair, rent, all types of land-based mobile communication equipment and systems. But while we sell a full array of cutting edge, top-of-the-line, cost-effective technologies, our first priority is to provide our customers with the best technical support services anywhere. We offer quick turn-around of repairs and free local pickup and delivery of repairs and accessories. We pride ourselves on providing "Oilfield Style" service and support - 365 days a year, 7 days a week, 24 hours per day - without fail, in any weather, and even on holidays - here in the Gulf of Mexico, as well as globally around the world.

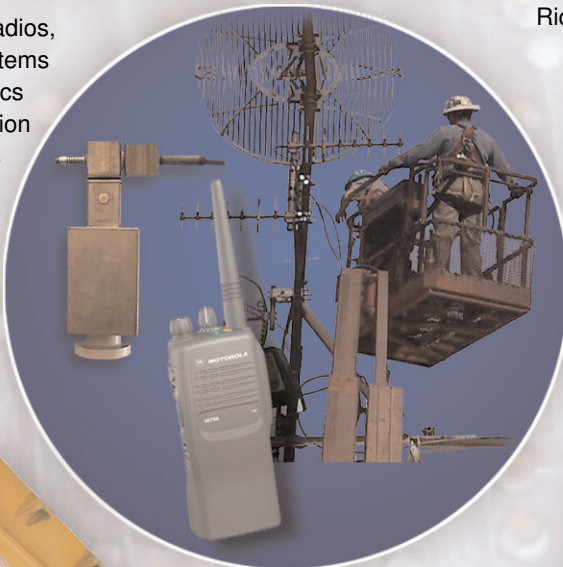

We're your one stop solution provider, offering a variety of proven products to enhance communications and management productivity. Our line of repeaters and trunking technologies provide an array of customizable communications systems that will meet the demand and complexity of today's evolving markets. Single repeater systems with one on one communications, trunking systems that allow multiple independent conversations or multiple site trunks with expanded coverage area, we have a solution that can handle your needs. Licensing, frequency coordination, site survey and support are all part of the services we offer. whether for SCADA and/or voice communications, Rice Electronics can design, deploy, and support your system. We're also leaders in the Satellite Communications, too. If you're in the construction or contractor business, Rice Electronics is the right choice for you.
